PREFACE

Who does not love the upward trail? Its beginning is in the common lowlands where the ambitious first resolve to climb. Its course runs over verdant fields and hot dry places, up rugged slopes, and across wild streams—always higher and higher. Its canopy is the broad blue sky or the sheltering branch of bay or sycamore, pine or oak. Its fragrance is mountain lilac and sage, its music, a thousand murmurings from chaparral thickets or Manzanita bushes. Its high places reveal vistas of pleasant landscapes or the distant snow. Its call is, "Come up higher, come up higher." What a treasure it is to carry away a vivid picture of the rewards of the trail!

Our course through high school has frequently been likened to a trail. We have had our good times and our grind, our bright and gloomy days. Victory and defeat, disappointment, and, finally, the reward of commencement, we have in turn experienced. Now we are desirous of carrying away with us those vivid pictures taken here and there on the high spots which will help us to remember what is most typical in and representative of our high school life. To help us fulfill this desire is the purpose of The Annual. The staff has constantly endeavored to capture the sunshine while compiling this volume mindful of the fact that the call for all of us has been, "Come up higher, come up higher."

HISTORIAN OBSERVES 25th ANNIVERSARY

Roscoe Lewis Ashley, Noted Text Book Writer, Completes Quarter Century in Pasadena High School

Twenty-five years ago,—on April 11, 1898, to be exact—Roscoe L. Ashley came to Pasadena High School as a teacher of English and mathematics. At that time, there were only nine members of the faculty and only three hundred students on the roll. Two years later he became head of the Social Science Department, and until 1909 was the only teacher in that department.

Mr. Ashley started writing history and civics text-books when in the course of his early teaching he found that some of the most important features in the way of comment and explanation were omitted. Mr. Ashley says, "My first work was experimental, but not exactly an experiment, if I may put it that way."

In 1902 he received his first royalty check of $28.00 for "The American Federal State." This book is still in use after nineteen years. This is an exceptional record, for the life of the average book is about six years. "The New Civics," published in 1917, was used by the United States government in training the soldiers on the Rhine in the essentials of civics. This same volume is used as a text-book in all the Manila high schools.

During Mr. Ashley's twenty-five year term as a member of the Pasadena

High School faculty, he has written twenty volumes, including:

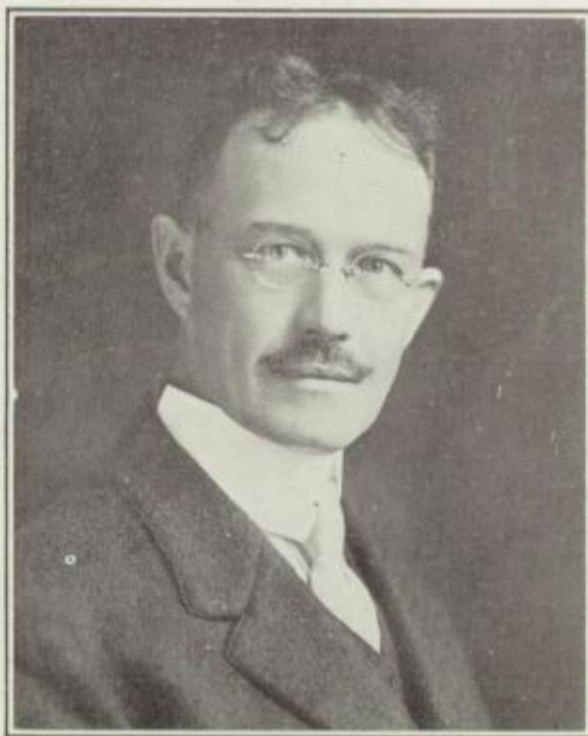

"The American Government," 1903; "Government and the Citizen," 1904; "American History," 1907, 1914, 1919; "American Colonial History," 1911; "The Feudal Age," 1913; "Ancient Civilization," 1915; "Medieval Civilization," 1916; "Early European History," 1916; "Modern European Civilization," 1918; "The War and America," 1918; "Modern Europe," 1921; "The Practice of Citizenship," 1922. Mr. Ashley contributed to the Cyclopaedia of American Government, and is the author of many articles on history, civics, and problems of an educational nature.

When asked if he noticed any difference between the high school pupil of twenty-five years ago and the pupil of today, Mr. Ashley said, "As would naturally be expected, the group with which we had to deal then was more selected. But nevertheless I can safely say that I consider the modern high school student just as good, if not better, than the student of twenty or twenty-five years ago.

"When the school self-government was first heard of, it was bitterly opposed by most of the teachers, but I for one think the plan of responsibility upon the young person always makes for better leaders in the future."

FAREWELL

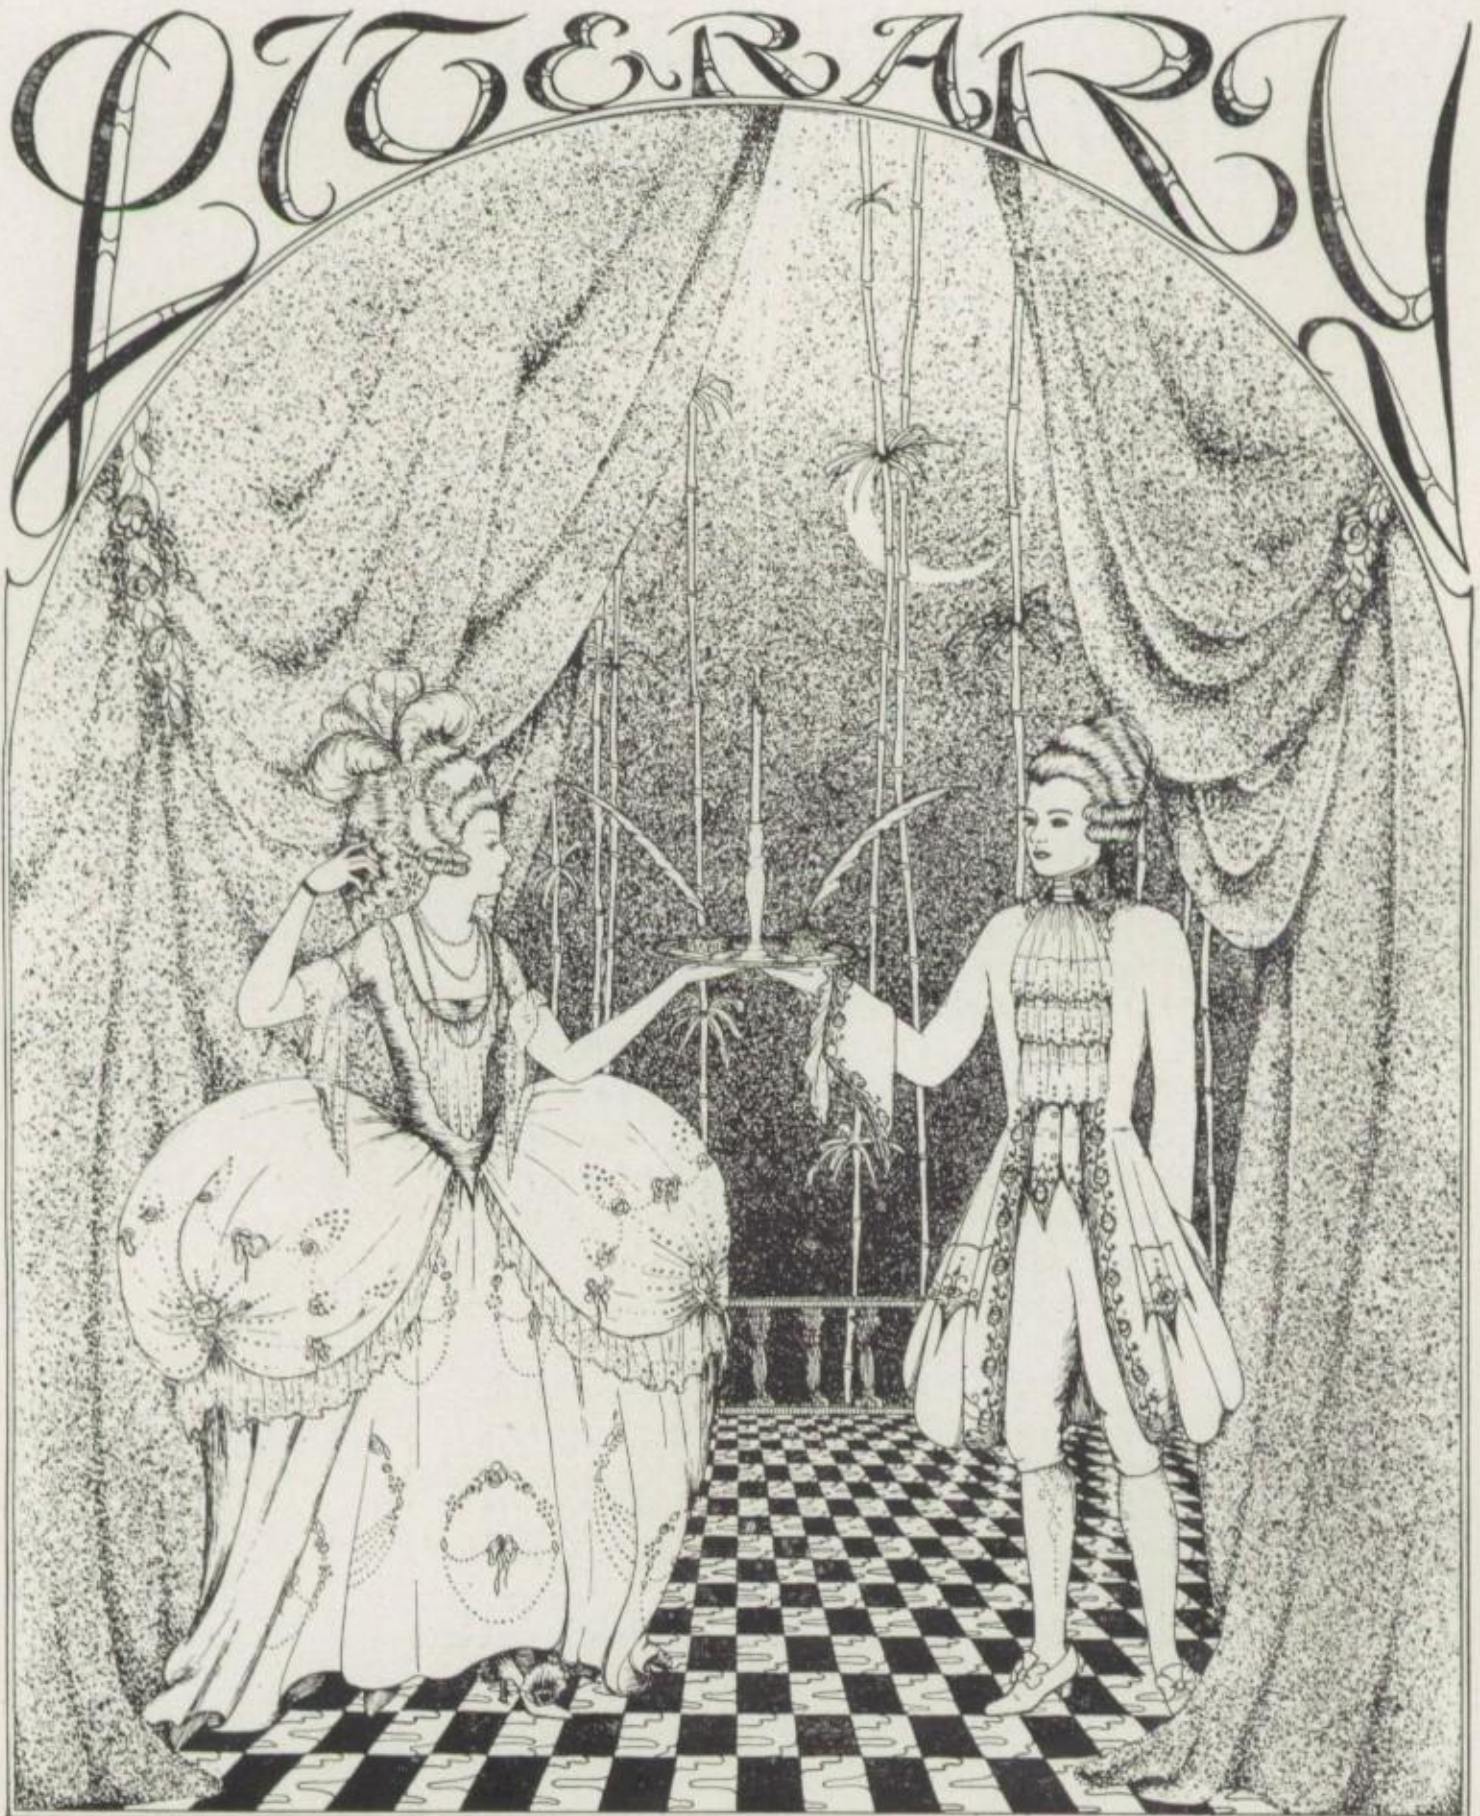

As the gates of Pasadena High School close behind us and as we look over that broad expanse known as life, we can realize the value of four years in Pasadena High School, a possession which no one can take from us.

The associations we have made among teachers and students will always be cherished. The monotony of the daily grind may have seemed at times unbearable, but it has helped to prepare us for the ups and downs of life.

Our thoughts in the future will always be kindly toward our Alma Mater. We love you Pasadena High School and will always do our best for you. As we pass through the portals for the last time to say goodbye, may our lives reflect the honor you deserve.

OLIVER PRICKETT,

President Class of 1923.

SUMMER'S CROWN

I sing a song of a coronet rare
That crowns the halo of Summer's hair;
Of jewels worth many a cross and care,
For a band of golden threads to bear;
Jewels that will meet with their equals ne'er—
A fitting crown for Summer to wear,
For only the Queen of the Year would dare
To bind her brow with a band so fair,
Of thirty pearls.

Pearls that are fair and white and pale
As the filmy mist of a bridal veil,
Or the curving white of a dream-ship's sail,
Or the starry blooms in a fairy dale
By the side of a moss-grown, gray-green rail
That marks the line of a fairy trail
Where the path leads up and out of the vale—
As fair as the soul of a fairy tale
Are thirty pearls.

Pearls that are softly, purely white,
But pearls that hold in their hearts the light
Of a thousand summer sunbeams bright,
And the starry gleams of the soft June night;
The shimmering blue of the heavens' height
And the hills that rise in silent might;
The glow of a roadway, rose-bedight—
The colors shift before our sight
In thirty pearls.

For thirty days Time, weary, sleeps,
And Summer still her treasure keeps,
And from her pearls new pleasure reaps;
Till Time, in his stern rocky steeps
Awakes—from out his cavern creeps.
He takes the pearls—to other heaps
He points—then drops them in the deeps—
"These are but lent"—and Summer weeps
For thirty pearls.

HISTORICAL OUTLINES OF THE CLASS OF 1923

Foreword. These outlines have been compiled for the benefit of those students who have expressed their desire for a synopsis of the outstanding achievements of the class of 1923 which may be read at one sitting. The contributions which have been made by this class to the progress of student life and the significance of the same ought, of course, to be included in a treatise of the nature of this one. The authors, however, being members of due modesty of the fortunate and illustrious class of 1923, confess a certain reluctance to exaluate those permanent elements which should survive after the group has passed away. We will therefore confine ourselves to the narration of straight facts, leaving the interpretation thereof to future chroniclers.

Divisions of This History. We recall from our text books a statement which says: "In studying the facts and movements of history, it is customary to arrange them in certain divisions or periods." We will adhere to this custom dividing this account into four parts each dealing with a distinctly separate period.

The Verdant or Freshman Period. It was in the early days of 1920 when the class of this narrative first became identified with P. H. S. We were admired for our superabundance of chlorophyl. Under the influence of the sunny smiles of the organized upper classmen we soon began to awaken to a new something—school and class spirit—which we showed in at least three distinct enterprises: the Freshmen sister party, the roof-party of May 1, and the preparation of the unique float for the New Year's parade. Our victors on the field of glory were "Babe" Orr and Harold Novis in athletics; on the rostrum there were many silver-tongued orators such as "Jimmie" McCormack. Among those who hungered for office and who had their hunger satisfied were Martin Scott, president first semester; Betty Shaw, vice-president first semester; Alice Wigney, secretary; Biddle Staats, treasurer first semester; Stewart Yuel, president second semester; Adelaide Mack, vice-president second semester; Marion Hincks, secretary second semester; and Norton Coleman, treasurer second semester.

The Age of Wisdom or Sophomore Period. Next we arrived at our Sophomore year, 1921, in which some of us were inclined to be silly and foolish in having an exaggerated opinion of our wisdom. Fortunately, as we were then informed and have come to believe, we were the only ones who entertained that opinion. Our office-holders for the first semester were Biddle Staats, president; Allene Strubel, vice-president; Druscilla Simons, secretary; and Oliver Prickett, treasurer. New officers chosen at the mid-year election were: Jerome Young, Alice Daugherty, Earlynne Sheldon, and Martin Scott. We entered into many activities during the year and put them over big. Some of these were the class party in the girls' new gymnasium; the winning of first place in the "Novel Display" enhry on Field Day; the basket supper on the tennis courts. Our class was the largest in the history of the school, having 680 members.

The Soporific or Junior Period. In the Junior year of 1922 we were tortured with suspense and fear, as this was our introduction into the upper realms of learning. We were the subordinates to the high and mighty Seniors, who by their constant murmurings in many meetings well nigh lulled us to sleep. Nevertheless, nowise lacking in moral courage, we accomplished many worth-while things. Under the leadership of Oliver Prickett, president; Virginia Post, vice-president; Earlynne Sheldon, secretary; and Charles Mack, treasurer, we strove through two noteworthy semesters. There were but two changes of officers second semester—Natalie Bassett, secretary, and Scudder Nash, treasurer. An enumeration of important events would reveal both strength and capability. Conspicuous were the representation of the class play, "Clarence"; the Christmas party at the Neighborhood Club House; the Junior-Senior party at the Hotel Raymond; and the donation by the class of $586.41 to the scholarship fund. In addition to this we took an active part in all of the school activities including athletics, debating, and journalism work.

The Evanescent or Senior Period. Now we come to our fourth and last year—the glorious Senior year of 1923, of which we will have many cherished memories long after we have entered the busy life of the world. As the day of judgment draws nearer we find ourselves counting credits, checking frantically every $\frac{1}{2}$ or $\frac{1}{4}$ unit. Our organization goes bravely forward. We review the first semester of the current year and put on record that our officers were Joseph Sill, president; Winifred Clark, vice-president; Estelle Bassett, secretary; and Roderick Ward, treasurer; that the outstanding things were the Seniors' One Big Night at the Altadena Country Club on December 9, and the letting of the bid for the class pictures. Among our fellow classmates who were elected to the highest offices in the school, a few old-timers are to be found in Martin Scott, commissioner of finance for both semesters; James McCormack, commissioner of debating for both semesters; Charles Mack, commissioner of athletics for one semester; and Virginia Post, commissioner of girls' welfare for one semester. Among those who rose to fame over night, so to speak, were Everett Delgrave and Terrel DeLapp, who shared the honors of commissioner of publications during the year; Grace Burns, commissioner of girls' welfare for one semester; Frances Hayes and Eunice Mannheim, who shared the commissionership of entertainment; Arthur Syvertson, commissioner of boys' welfare; and Kenneth Graham, commissioner of athletics for one semester. The mid-year class election returned the same people to office with the exception of the president. Oliver Prickett was elected to this honored position, and immediately announced his plans for bringing the second and last semester of the Senior class to an appropriate and fitting close. The farewell events of our last high school year were the class play, "Adam and Eva," a comedy, which proved a tremendous success; the vaudeville show given in April; the Junior-Senior party; and the class day exercises.

General Summary and Conclusion. And now that we have finished our preliminary training in four distinct and separate periods most of us are looking forward to our college days. We will not soon forget the era when we were building the foundation for our life work at P. H. S. With this in mind we will always welcome an invitation to return as alumni to the school where we helped to make history.

PASADENA HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

A truly wonderful scene from American life is the commencement ceremony of Pasadena High School, which takes place out of doors under a perfect western sky just at sunset, in a majestic California setting. At the close of a perfect day in the middle of June, two processions of graduating seniors singing in chorus slowly make their way along a winding path through rose-covered archways and take their places upon the platform, which is situated in the midst of a conventional English garden setting. Half-surrounding the stage are usually flower-decked trellises and other features of natural beauty, especially prepared for the occasion. At last year's ceremony, the Seniors were preceded by the Junior girls attired as shepherdesses in blue and white, bearing crooks and carrying pretty baskets filled with flowers representing the class colors. These shepherdesses acted as escorts of honor. While the Seniors, singing the anthem, "Praise Ye the Father," were in their places ready to receive their diplomas, the Junior girls strolled about picturesquely in the garden. Each year an effort is made to have the graduation in a different setting and to carry out a distinct motif for the escort of honor.

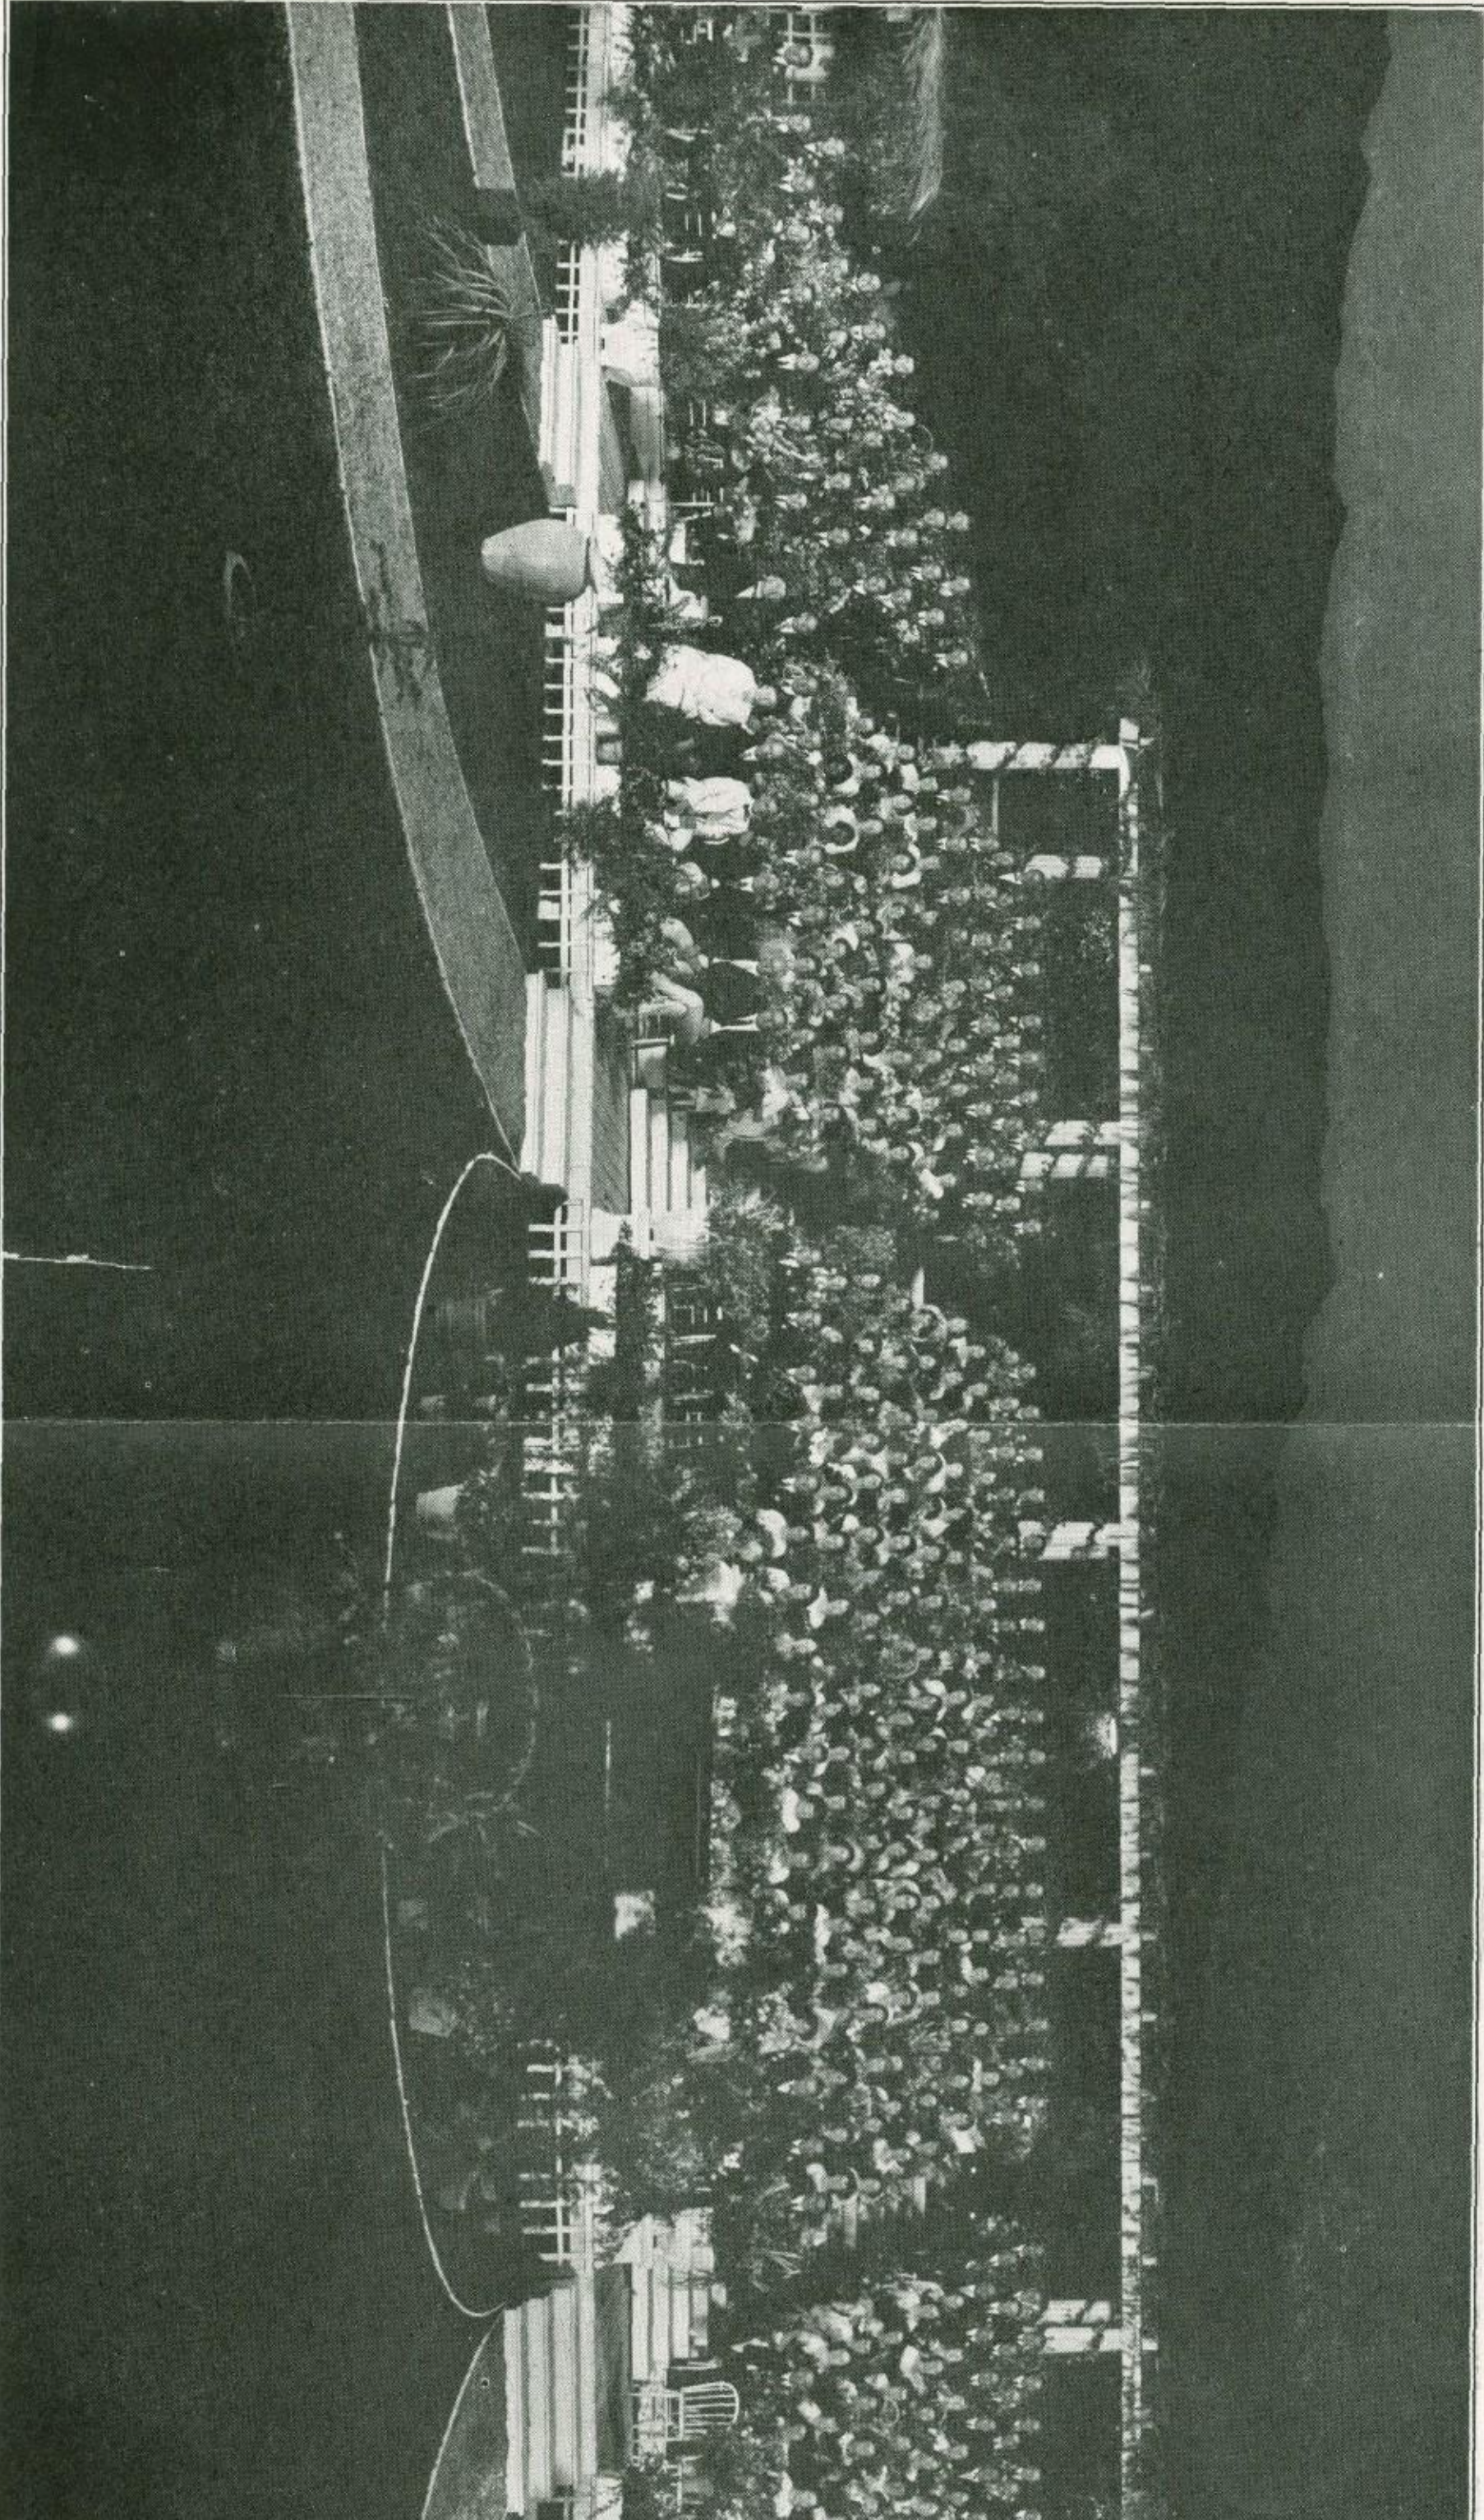

When the last strains of the processional hymn have ceased, the invocation is pronounced by a minister chosen by the Seniors. In response, the graduating class sings Brackett's, "Father, Hear the Prayer We Offer." Following this, speeches are made by the class president, the valedictorian, and officials representing the school and the board of education. Interspersed between the speeches are musical selections which are sometimes solo numbers, sometimes orchestral. With their diplomas in hand, the graduates then receive bouquets of flowers offered in beautiful ceremonial by the Junior girls. These girls, laden with flowers, make repeated trips to the platform distributing the bouquets among the graduates, until the stage has become a veritable bank of blossoms and smiling faces. This is one of the most beautiful sights of the graduation and marks the close of the exercises as darkness falls over the splendid scene. That this event should have been called the most beautiful and the most picturesque high school ceremony in the United States is not surprising. Last year, motion pictures of the graduation exercises were exhibited in the principal cities throughout the country and, no doubt, they served as an inspiration for many other communities. A person elsewhere than in Pasadena might ask the question, How does it happen that Pasadena High School holds this sole distinction and what is the significance of it? The answer to this question is embraced in the little word—opportunity.

The committee on graduation arrangements in working out a plan saw the possibilities of making a ceremony impressive and something of more than passing interest. When Seniors are graduated from a high school course they are unconsciously confronted with two roads, the one leading to success, the other leading to failure. Those who easily follow the lines of least resistance will travel on the one and those who wish to seek after more knowledge will travel on the other. Therefore, it is valuable to have a ceremony which makes a lasting impression upon the minds of the young graduates; one which tends to make their thoughts become more serious as they view the responsibilities ahead of them as good American citizens. The custom of taking a pledge, which was started last year, is a motivation of the highest type for them to follow in the development of character, loyalty and useful service. Then, too, the entire ceremony is an inspiration to their fellow students. Even the flashlight photograph of the graduation is not without its significance. There are usually two or three of these kept on display under a glass top on the counter of the attendance office. When students are sent to this office for matters of discipline they can look at these pictures and think things over as they await their turn in the line. Thus a certain thinking effect is produced either of shame or of fear which is very likely to make a student mend his ways if he desires to graduate. Probably the most significant phase of the graduation exercises is that it instills pride into the people of the community and makes them realize and appreciate the advantages of a far-sighted educational policy.

PASADENA HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES CLASS OF 1922

THE ANNUAL, 1923

HISTORY OF DEBATING

Debating in Pasadena High School has had a long and varied history. In 1902 the Debating League of Southern California was organized, and Pasadena entered the league in the second series. Roscoe L. Ashley was coach until 1913. The first debate was entered by Frank Russell, who, in the last few years has become prominent at the University of California, where he will take President Barrow's classes on his return from Europe. By unusual effort Pasadena won the first three debates, and the championship. Except for two years, Pasadena did not fall below third place in a decade. Under Mr. Ashley the debates were a study of social problems.

In 1913, Carl H. Carson became the debating coach, and Pasadena changed to the Los Angeles League, which was carried on by double debates. In 1916 Pasadena won the first debate in the new league, and a great boom for debating followed. Paul Batkin, of the English department, took over the debating work immediately preceding the war. When Mr. Batkin entered the army, Pasadena changed to the old league, the Debating League of Southern California. Mr. Batkin was the first regular teacher of public speaking, and he began the squad system. Following Mr. Batkin as coaches were: Cary T. Wright, Cyril Cooper, J. W. Harbeson, John G. Scott, and Murray G. Hill. It is interesting to note that many of the prominent citizens of Pasadena and Los Angeles at one time were debaters for Pasadena. Among these are: Judge Raymond G. Thompson, Judge William J. Hayes, Dr. LeRoy Sherry, Judge Channing Folette, J. Howell Atwood, Cyril Cooper and Elvan Musick.

In the early times the enthusiasm for debating was increased by a debating society for both the boys and girls. After the meetings the visiting club and guests and all students were entertained at supper, making a delightful social gathering after the contest of the evening.

DEBATING IN PASADENA HIGH SCHOOL IN 1922-3

Debating has played a large part in all political struggles and in every-day business and it will continue to figure in the world's work of the future.

Realizing how important this activity is, we can appreciate the efforts made by students and teachers to hold debates with rival schools. This school year three interesting debates have been held, in which Pasadena High School has made a good showing. The first one, against Hollywood, was held at Pasadena, December 8, 1922. Before a crowded auditorium, the Pasadena representatives, Bernadine Hand and James McCormack, upheld the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, that the Interallied War Debts Should Be Cancelled." Although Pasadena was acknowledged to have the better argument, Hollywood won by a score of 200½ to 189. The second debate was held at Santa Ana on February 16, 1923. The question under discussion was, "Resolved, That the Closed Shop Is Better Than the Open Shop in Promoting the Interests of Industry." Pasadena upheld the negative, being represented by John Adams and Michael Dolan. So complete was the information brought together by the two that they were able to win by the decisive majority of 199½-178.

"Resolved, That the City Manager Form of Government is Preferable to Any Other Form of Government for Cities of Not More Than 200,000 Population" was the difficult question for the last debate of the season, as upheld by

Alhambra High School in the Pasadena Auditorium, Saturday evening, April 14th. Michael Dolan and John Adams bravely defended the negative, bringing out points which showed they had studied deeply into the question. By a decision of 2-1 the score was announced as 191-177 $\frac{2}{3}$ in favor of the affirmative. Those who composed the team are Bernadine Hand, James McCormack, John Adams and Michael Dolan. Bernadine, a new student at Pasadena High School, entered immediately the field of debating. James McCormack, besides carrying out his duties as commissioner, represented his school in one of the interscholastic debates. Michael Dolan and John Adams have well shown their power of debating by their excellent work.

The entire squad, from which the team was chosen, was composed of Louise Bennett, Irene Pridham, Bernadine Hand, John Adams, Michael Dolan, John Maxson, Ernest Turner and Datus Smith.

It is hard for the average person to realize the difficulties which must be confronted by a debating coach. Throughout the preparation his is a continuous trial of self-denial. The past year has been an arduous one, Pasadena debating two of the strongest schools in the league, Hollywood and Alhambra, and hence calling for much self-sacrifice from the coach. The success of the year attests to the efforts made by Murray G. Hill. He has filled the strenuous position with exceptional ability.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S ORATORICAL CONTEST

When Arthur Syvertson won the greatest oratorical contest ever held in America, competing with five of Southern California's best high school orators, Pasadena's students and citizens were greatly aroused by the glory of it. Not only did Arthur win $1,500, but he received one of the greatest honors ever bestowed upon a student of Pasadena High School. Having won his way through the elimination contest in Pasadena High School, the district finals, the semi-finals, and the finals, he won a contest in which 7,738 high school students in fourteen counties of California participated.

All six contestants in the finals exhibited remarkable ability. Melzar Lindsey of Santa Monica, who won the second prize of $500, is also to be especially congratulated.

The object of the contest was to promote interest in and respect for the Constitution of the United States. In his speech, entitled "Our Constitution, the Citadel of Freedom," Mr. Syvertson voiced the splendid ideals that every patriotic American should feel for the law of his country.

In accepting the prize, Mr. Syvertson expressed his appreciation in behalf of the high school and his splendid coach, Mrs. Irene Sage Peters.

This contest testifies that honor may be gained in the wide field of oratory, as well as on the athletic field.

Let it be understood that Mr. Syvertson excels not only in oratory, but as a student, an athlete, and a commissioner.

The class of 1923, and the school as a whole are proud of Arthur Syvertson and expect great things of him.

Following is the text of the oration:

Our Constitution—The Citadel of Freedom:

Millions of people are born in the United States each year. These people grow up through a happy childhood and come into manhood. They accept all of the liberties of the priceless gift of American citizenship, without thinking from whence these liberties come.

Some do not even realize that not many years ago men were cast in dungeons for preaching democracy; that men's limbs were broken and their faces branded with red-hot irons, because they chose to worship a different God; that women and children, as well as men were sold from the auction block into slavery, to be driven by whip, and bound by chain—for life; merely for contesting the godliness of a czar; that men were stricken from existence without trial by jury—without even being confronted with a witness or an accuser, but—thank God—those days are past and we Americans are privileged to live in a land whose blessings are the fulfillment of the dreams of ages. In comparison, we live in a Heaven on earth, and the gods of this—our earthly Heaven—are the fifty-five men who framed the Constitution of the United States, and by so doing breathed life into the most perfect government ever instituted by man.

When those fifty-five men convened in Philadelphia, in June, 1787, they faced the gigantic problem of establishing a constitutional government that would unite those thirteen states, which were in a condition of distraction and bankruptcy, into a sovereign nation. The government under the Articles of Confederation had failed miserably. There had been limited trade and commerce, but the Congress had not the power to regulate or tax it. The value of the American (paper) dollar had dropped to one-half of a cent.

These were the conditions when Washington first rapped for order in that historic hall of Independence, in Philadelphia. The body of men gathered there realized that if they failed, their cherished hope for a United States would never be a reality; they realized that if they failed, those men who had given their lives at Saratoga and Yorktown would have died in vain. They determined that such should not be the case, that the cause of man's freedom should not fail for want of great courageous men to uphold it. For four months they labored. They studied the weak and the strong features of every government that had existed beneath the sun. They learned why Athens and Rome fell. They studied the governments of England and Holland, and taking the best that the world had to offer, they formulated a plan of government, that in many respects was new, yet it stands today the most perfect civic plan in all the world.

They built the superstructure of our government upon the sturdy cornerstone formed by those three great English documents; the Magna Carta, Petition of Right and the Bill of Rights. They provided for a "three department representative government. The departments are: the legislative, the executive, and the judicial, but the astonishing fact is that for the first time in the history of the world imperial power was vested in no one department, that each department was to serve as a check and a balance for the others, yet the final supreme power was left in the hands of the people. It provided that those who made the laws could not administer them, and those who administered them could not judge them. This was a decided departure from the past, and a distinct protection of people against the possible usurpation of power by the central government.

Those men, as they sat discussing, debating, deliberating in that now famous hall, created the most finished, polished, and balanced relation between a people and their government that the human mind has conceived. They loved liberty, but they never thought of liberty without law. Liberty meant religious freedom, and political equality, and out of this belief have grown the free school, the free press, the free church, and the free state, and these institutions have been the great forts of American nationality and security, as guaranteed by the Constitution. The name of every one of those immortal men who sat in that learned assemblage should be stamped in the hearts of Americans in letters that eternity cannot fade.

After a century and a third of successful trial, our Constitution has ceased to be an experiment; it is a reality. During the course of those years it has been subject to ridicule and opposition it has been amended nineteen times and interpreted in many different ways. But it has trodden upon no man's liberty; it has crushed no state "its daily respiration has been freedom and justice." Its practical usage has infinitely increased the sum of human happiness. "It has made every man a sovereign, but no man has dared wear a crown." It has been the great equalizer of human rights, and its power and its glory are due to the fact that it is based upon the secured rights of men to govern themselves.

Our Constitution has lived longer unaltered than any other one governing document in the history of the world. It has been the supreme law of this nation, which has had the most tremendous growth and advance of any nation of the world's history. It has met the needs of the people in the face of panic, insurrection, civil war, and world war. What greater trials can man contemplate? Men say that experience is the best teacher, that we judge the future by the past. Why then will not our Constitutional government live successfully in the future? It will live. Our Constitution is a permanent and lasting institution because in simple, clear English, it provides for a highly efficient form of representative government, for government for all the people and indirectly by all the people; because it provides for neither an autocracy nor an extreme democracy; because it grants to every man all of the liberties and freedom possible in an organized state of society. Because it is a great pliable, flexible instrument that can expand or contract to meet any public necessity, because it makes possible this great prosperous nation of freedmen, the Constitution of the United States is a permanent and lasting institution. The pessimist and the knocker who slanders the Constitution is jeopardizing his own liberty. He is attempting to tear down his own "citadel of freedom"!

We Americans do not fully appreciate the fact that our blessings have been purchased with the blood of our forefathers; that the life of a million Americans has sealed our Constitution with bonds that the everlasting sun cannot melt. When we meddle with those great fundamental principles first set down in the instrument, we trespass upon the sacred dust of our forefathers. We do not fully realize that we inherit rights that other men died for; that we are privileged to live in a land where the "title to manhood is the title to citizenship" and where the title to citizenship is the title to more individual liberties than have ever before been enjoyed by mortals. Where under the sun will you find a people enjoying life, liberty, prosperity and contentment to a greater degree than here in America? Where on this old earth will you find a people realizing their life's ambitions—hopes and desires to a more marked degree here in God's country? But we hear the growl and snarl of the discontented and this is their cry—the bootlegger is getting rich—the hooded clan spreads fear and terror in its wake—the income tax returns prove that we have dishonest citizens—professional politicians bully and buy municipal elections—the land is alive with revolutionists teaching their Bolshevik doctrines. But fear not, friends, what we hear is only the death cry, and these are the dying acts of primitive man, provoked by his animal instincts as he surrenders to the refining influences of civilization. If you would have our ship of state sail on to a greater, grander destiny, teach respect for law and order for the courts and the magistrates, reverence for our institutions, and loyalty for all the great fundamental principles bequeathed to us by our ancestors. Do this, and all will be well with posterity!

But, countrymen, there are those men today who say that our Constitution has grown old and out of date; that it was written to govern three million and not one hundred and ten millions of people; that it should be cast among the curiosities of the past. Such reasoning is absurd, friends, their motive is not to increase the efficiency of the government, but to tear it down to a level of tyranny. They seek not government for the people, but rather government which would lead to the sovereignty of a few, and moreover, of all the systems that have been proposed to supercede our present constitutional plan there is not one, no not one, but has been time tried and failed somewhere in the history of the world. They propose to institute a failure in the place of our government which is heralded throughout the world as the greatest advance in civil government since the beginning of time! Let them study history and law before they propose to alter those great basic principles that our fathers fought for. Hear ye, fellow citizens! He who attempts to dethrone our laws, or to tear down or degrade our Constitution is our enemy, and Heaven help him when he comes face to face with a real red-blooded American! And friends, the reason that our Constitution remains intact today is that ever since seventeen eighty-seven the majority of the people have been real red-blooded Americans.

"America has been a vast theater of political reform." Our fathers and our forefathers have been the actors, and the finished product of their heroic acting is the constitutional government under which we live. By its silent example it has placed the divine right of kings, the bounding chains of slavery, and ghastly dungeon tortures mid the dark memories of the past.

Our Constitution has placed a new sun in the solar system—the sun of freedom! Its piercing rays have melted monarchies, have burned the artificial finery off the back of czar and king and lord, and exposed them to the world in their disgraceful nakedness. Its illuminating rays have cast light into the realms of darkest oppression, and as its rays first brought sunshine to America—now it is the sunshine of the world.

But friends, time enfeebles sturdy limbs and turns golden hair gray; time turns tiny tumbling brooklets into mighty cataracts; time turns arid desert into fertile plains; time crumbles mighty mountains into dust. But as long as we Americans remain loyal to the causes for which our fathers died, so long as we devote ourselves to the cause of Constitutional freedom, time will not see that great fiery planet of freedom ball beyond the horizon into the sea of forgotten stars.

Americans, our Constitution is more than a sun which radiates the eternal happiness of man's freedom, more than a sublime recognition of human rights, more than the super-structure of the most perfect government on the face of the earth, more than the emancipator of slaves and the dethroner, more than a colossal mountain of everlasting truth, more than mortals' greatest monument to the Goddess of Liberty, more than all these—it is dear, because it is the unconquerable Citadel of American freedom, and it is unconquerable because its Citadel "is built within the hearts of men."

DRAMATICS

The old ideas about dramatics have given way to more progressive and correct ones. The stage today is looked upon in high school as a means of education and development.

In 1916 in P. H. S. there was comparatively little interest in dramatics. The year 1917 saw the organization of the first dramatics class, under Miss Eloise Sterling. Today there are three classes in dramatics, and this activity ranks high in importance. Pasadena High School may point to this year's efforts with pride.

Acting is an expression of human life; it requires brains and self-control; it is hard work. He who can act has a great accomplishment; to be able to stand on one's feet and speak the English language correctly, to be able to interpret life as read from a play script, is power; and to be an actor in a good play, is in itself a liberal education.

This is why dramatics is worth while in high school. Most teachers in P. H. S. have realized it. Many have lent their very earnest efforts in numerous plays throughout the year, and deserve much credit. The productions have all been satisfactory and well worth while. The very hearty support of the student body is worthy of mention, as it has been no small factor in the success of the present year.

"JOINT OWNERS IN SPAIN"

The first play of the year was given in assembly by Miss Keppie's advanced dramatic class.

"Joint Owners in Spain," a one-act play, depicts the life in an old ladies' home. Vera Pratt, Adelaide Mack, Virginia Wightman, and Beth Thomas rendered their parts, the four old ladies, very creditably. The quarrelsome old women, Mrs. Dyer and Mrs. Fullerton, keep the house in rather an upset state by their disagreeableness, but finally a settlement is effected and all turns out right.

"THE WREN"

The first big play of the year was "The Wren," staged by the Mask and Mirror dramatic club. "The Wren," a three-act comedy by Booth Tarkington, directed by Miss Keppie, portrays in a humorous way the life in a New England sea coast boarding house. Capt. Olds (role taken by Archie Ekdale), an old sea captain who had had a "stroke," and his daughter, Seeby (Vera Pratt), run the boarding house. Francis, the hired man, who is always "goin' to Rushi," together with Mrs. Freehart (Adelaide Mack), lends much humor to the play. They are a romantic couple, always going down to the power house to look at the machinery whenever they feel romantic.

Mrs. Frazee (Edith Peterson), a boarder at Captain Olds's house, becomes enamored with Hugh Roddy, an artist (Watson Partridge), who is also a boarder. Seeby, who is at first a modest wren, and then a singing wren, upon the arrival of Mr. Frazee (Paul Mathewson), assumes the part of a managing wren, and straightens the weak-kneed Roddy out of the difficulties he has become entangled in. The play ends happily, with the departure of Mr. Frazee and his wife, for the city, and with Roddy and Seeby setting out to find pictures to paint for the day. While all members of the cast did well, Vera Pratt and Archie Ekdale deserve special mention for their work.

Miss Keppie directed the play. John Clark managed the business. The music for the evening was furnished by the high school orchestra under Mr. Parker.

Since the time of its organization the M. & M. has striven to help put dramatics on top in P. H. S. Besides "The Wren" and five other smaller plays presented this year, it has produced a long list of plays in years past. The money realized from "The Wren" was turned over to aid the stage fund.

"PEPPY PEDAGOGICAL PRANKS"

On the afternoon of December 13, the faculty produced its second annual play to an audience of over 2,500 people.

A step forward seems to have been taken in the field of dramatics; the teachers are realizing the possibilities of the stage, and are now taking an active part in dramatics.

"Peppy Pedagogical Pranks" was very well received. The first event consisted of two scenes taken from "The Taming of the Shrew." All parts were taken well, the acting of Miss Keppie as Katherine, and Mr. Foster as Petruchio, was especially fine. Miss Witherall and Messrs. Morrissey, Wilcox, Guthridge, Gilloon, and Yakeley also deserve much credit for their work.

The second event was perhaps the more funny of the two. "Pokie" was an historic pantomime of a famous event in American history. No one spoke, there was no need for speech, the portly male members of the faculty were so disguised as squad and generals, that one could not have recognized them if they had spoken, so much did they resemble the originals.

This play caused laughter from start to finish. The parts of the famous historic characters were taken as follows: Mr. von Gruening, Captain Smith; Mr. French, Powie; Mr. Griffith, Pokie; Mr. Sydnor, Johnny Rolph; Mr. Newlin, Aid de Stress; Messrs. Anderson, Deither, Truman, Indians; Messrs. Yerge, Martin, Squaws; Messrs. Evans, Haworth, Soldiers. For these two attractive plays the music was furnished by the teachers' orchestra.

We hope that next year the student body will be favored with another faculty entertainment, for this year's was certainly well received and much enjoyed.

"THE MAKER OF DREAMS"

"The Maker of Dreams," a fantastic comedy by Oliphant Downs, was directed by Miss Keppie, and put on by her intermediate dramatic class.

The play is a very artistic one and required considerable dramatic ability to produce. It was put over quite satisfactorily, and each of the actors who took part deserves mention.

DRAMATIC CLASS PROGRAM

On March 8, a program was given in assembly by the dramatic classes of P. H. S. There were two plays, one, "The Boy Will," and the other a scene from "As You Like It." Every part was splendidly portrayed. The performance was worked up in class time only.

"THE MIKADO"

Last year when the Music Department produced "Pinafore," such a success was scored, that another opera was tried this year.

"The Mikado," a very clever light opera in two acts, romantic, fascinating, with picturesque settings and striking costumes and splendid music was a veritable triumph. The singing was excellent, and so also was the acting, for the dramatic part of the opera was splendidly done. Humor was yet another element that made the performance so well liked. All the roles were very well played, and the cast was backed by a fine chorus.

Much credit for the successful program goes to Miss Keppie, dramatic director, to Miss Hindman and Mr. Miller, musical directors, and to Mr. Parker, director of the high school orchestra.

SPANISH PROGRAM

Two Plays

The Spanish department produced two Spanish plays in assembly, "La Broma" and "Uno De Ellos Debe Casarse." The plays were very well presented and were much enjoyed by a large audience. The cast, which consisted of eight students, did very good work. Music between the two plays was furnished by an orchestra composed of Spanish students.

Those members of the faculty who helped to make the program a success were: Mrs. S. M. Hatfield, Miss E. E. Keppie and Mrs. Irene Peters. Oliver Prickett managed the plays. The money realized from the program was given to the scholarship fund.

"SHAKESPEARE BIRTHDAY FESTIVAL"

On the afternoon of April 23, one of the most dramatic and artistic programs of the year was presented by the dramatic classes in honor of the birthday of Shakespeare. There were three scenes in all, and each was preceded by a Shakespearean song.

Every part was played splendidly, and so fine was the program that various scenes were reproduced before large audiences. One scene was given in the Shakespeare Festival in the Philharmonic Auditorium in Los Angeles; another before a large audience at the Vista del Arroyo Hotel, and another was given in an assembly at P. H. S. This is indicative of the excellent work done in the dramatic classes of P. H. S.

"SENIOR VAUDEVILLE"

Every year the Senior class gives a senior "Hi Jinx" or a "Senior Vaudeville." This year's show was probably the only entirely professional vaudeville show given in P. H. S. There were seven big acts, and every one went over big. The financial returns ($350) from the vaudeville, were turned over to the scholarship fund.

"BELIEVE ME, XANTIPPE"

"BELIEVE ME, XANTIPPE"

On January 26, the Juniors produced their annual play, "Believe Me, Xantippe," a comedy in four acts, before a packed house. Every person who came got his money's worth. Some Seniors there were who came with the air of—well, I don't know, but I don't think it will be as good as "Clarence." After the performance, no doubt, they thought differently. "Believe Me, Xantippe," was rendered in a way that the Juniors can truly be proud of.

The action of the play is swift, and the audience had to endure no waits. From the moment the curtain rose until the end of the play event succeeded event in rapid progression. In the denouement Thornton Brown and Arthur Sole pay to the successful evader of the arm-of-the-law $40,000. This money is the result of a wager with George MacFarland that he could not evade the law for one year after committing a crime.

Especially good acting was done by Lucille Knapp, who played the part of Dolly Kammon, and Marion Randall, who played George MacFarland. The rest of the parts were also taken well. Atha Delaplain as Violet, James Goodman as Simp Galloway, John Atwill as the Sheriff, "Ken" Robinson as the detective, and Peter Van Ness as "Thornt" Brown, did very good work. Elmeta Curry as Martha, Clarence Ricklefs as Wren, and Louis Elowitz as William were also good.

The music for the performance was furnished by the high school orchestra directed by Mr. H. H. Parker.

The play was made a success by the hard work of not only those seen on the stage, but also by that of the director, Miss Keppie, and stage manager, Mr. Morrissey, and the various committees. Russell Harriman, who had charge of the business of the play, deserves credit for his work also.

"SHAM"

One of the finest one-act plays of the year was given in assembly by the Mask and Mirror Dramatic Club on February 14.

"Sham" is an unusually interesting play. The two leads were taken by Vera Pratt as Clara, and Mervin Williams, as the crook. Paul Mathewson took the part of Charles, and Lyman Hazzard that of the reporter. The play was directed by Don MacAfee, with Adelaide Mack as assistant director.

"ADAM AND EVA"

DRAMATICS

"ADAM AND EVA"

The biggest play of the year was the Senior play of "Adam and Eva." While the Junior play always causes much excitement and commands a big turnout, the crowd that packed the P. H. S. auditorium on the night of May 18, broke all records.

The class of '23 made a name for itself when it produced "Clarence" last year, but when the clever comedy of "Adam and Eva" was put on, it not only equaled its record of last year, but many think, greatly exceeded it.

When the curtain rises, all eyes are focused on a scene showing a distracted father trying to settle the bills his large and extravagant family has incurred for him. He bitterly complains that they will all end in the bankruptcy court if they don't stop their extravagance. The family, on the other hand, has become tired of father's constant scolding, and hits upon a plan to get rid of him for a while. With the aid of Dr. Delamater (played by Bennett Nehls), father is persuaded that his health is failing and that he ought to go up the Amazon on business in place of his foreman, Adam Smith (Donald Kirkpatrick), whom he leaves as "father" in his place.

Father goes, and Adam Smith proves to be a big surprise. He makes the family believe that father's failure has occurred; to retrieve the lost fortune the family moves to the vicinity of Newark, N. J.; once there the work of raising chickens and bees proves to be a panacea for all their previous errors. Every member, from Mr. King's maiden aunt (Evelyn Beyl), to old Uncle Horace (Charles Mack), is reformed. Imagine father's surprise when he returns and finds what has happened. Of course, it all ends happily, and Adam and Eva (Evalynne Evans), get married.

For the dramatic successes of the class of '23 credit should be given also to the dramatic coach, Miss E. E. Keppie, under whose direction "Clarence" and "Adam and Eva" were produced, and to Miss Tennis, class adviser. Mr. Morrissey managed the stage crew, and Mr. H. H. Parker and the high school orchestra furnished the music for the evening. "Rod" Ward was business manager, and Paul Wyman handled the advertising.

SENIOR PLAY CAST AND UNDERSTUDIES

"THE SENIOR EXTRAVAGANZA"

At the time of this writing there is but one dramatic event to look forward to. Concluding one of the fullest and most successful seasons in the field of dramatics that P. H. S. has ever known, the senior class is to present the last great dramatic event of the year by the production of "The Senior Extravaganza."

Class day programs in the past have usually been a hodge-podge of acts and impromptu skits, and though they managed to get over, the class of '23 resolved to set a precedent by putting on a program that was carefully planned from start to finish. Consequently, early in the year, the class day committee began work; and although it faced a most difficult problem, it finally succeeded in perfecting plans for the production of "The Senior Extravaganza," an original musical comedy in three acts.

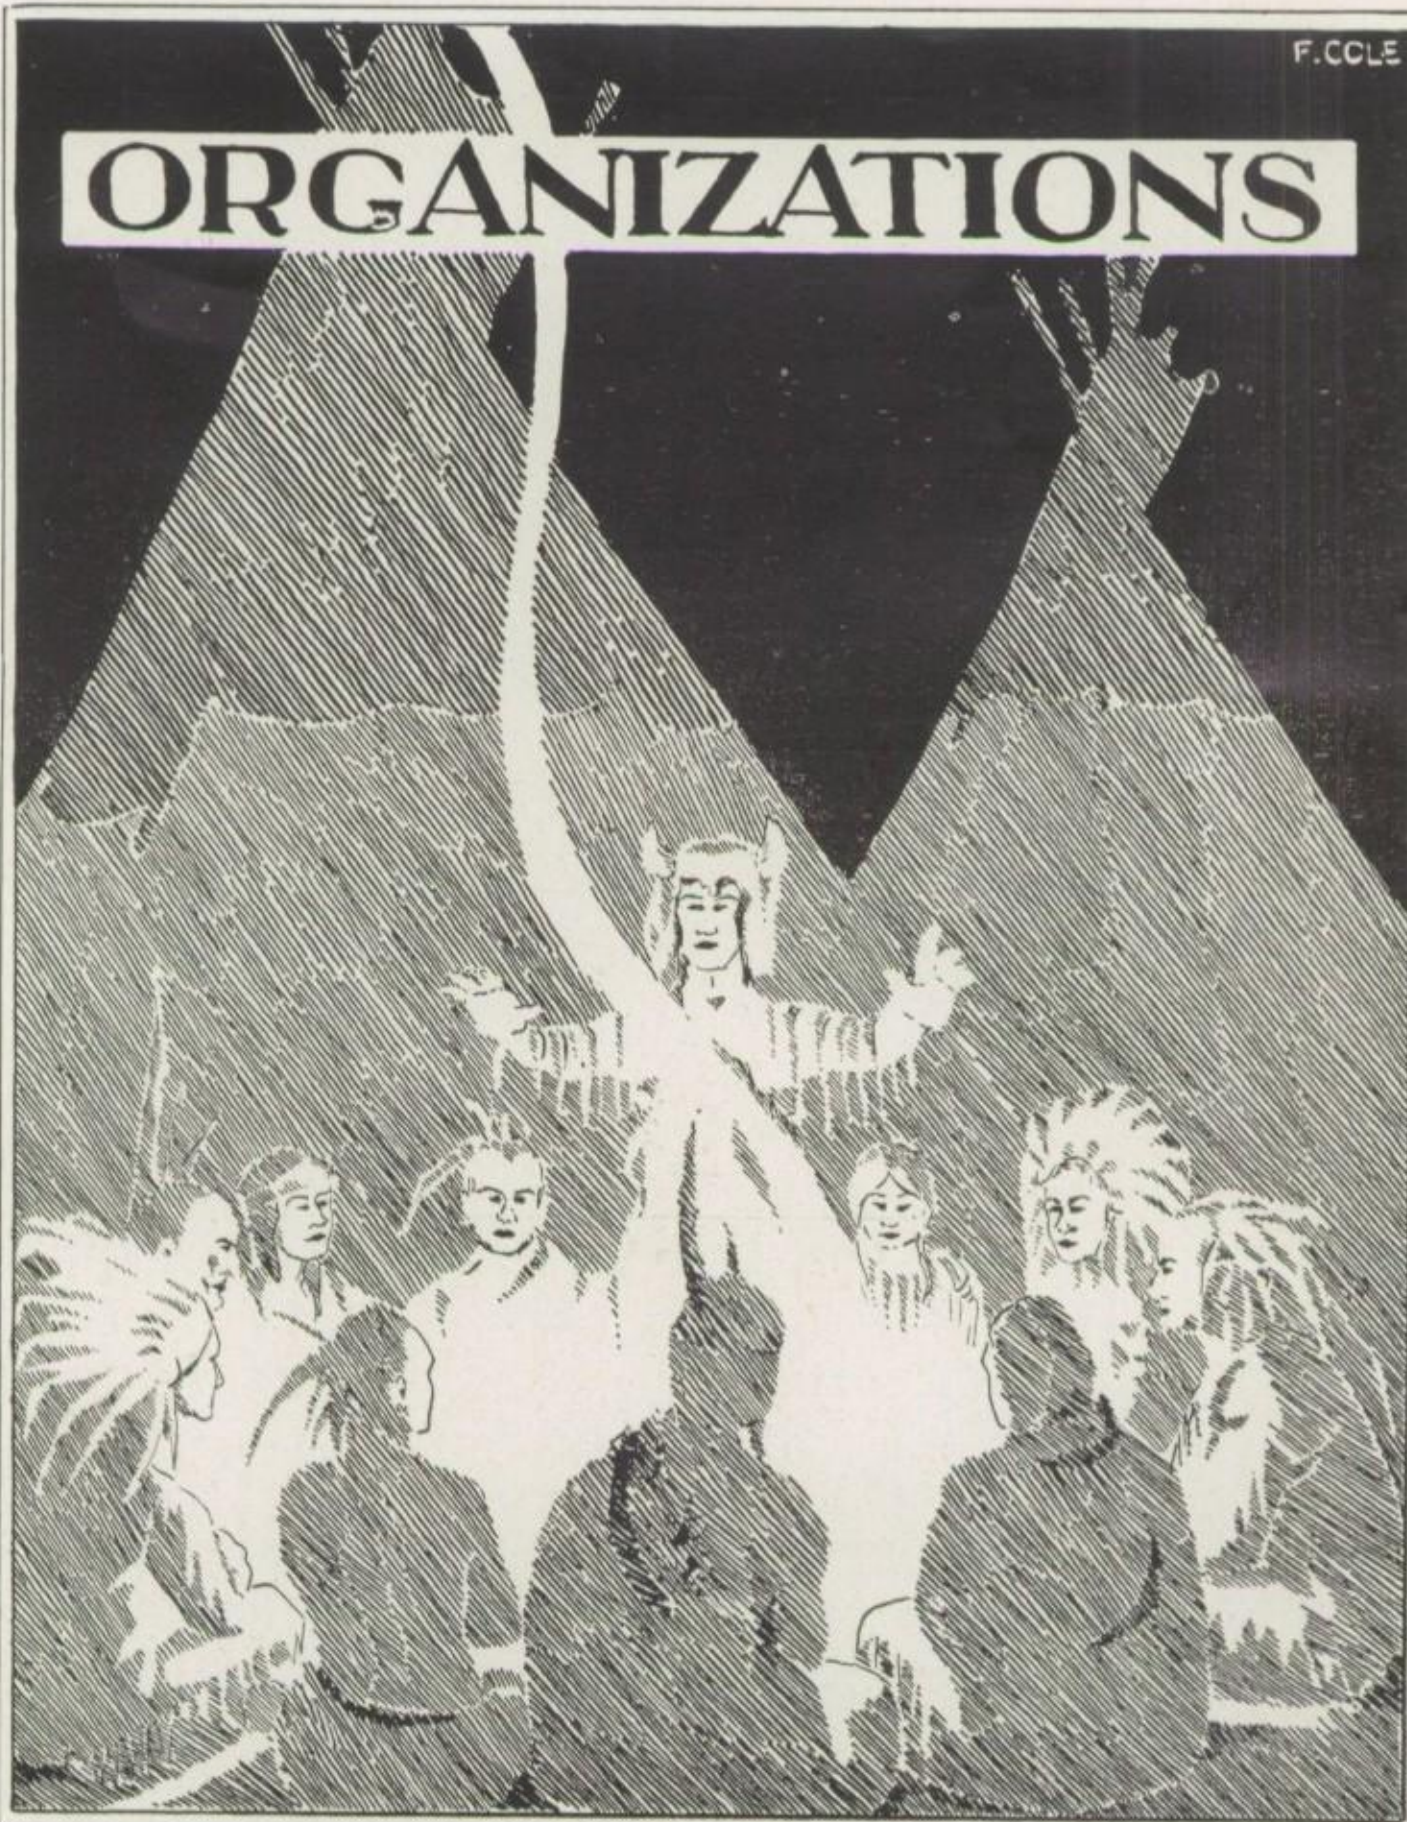

The program is to be the finest of its kind ever witnessed in P. H. S. Much credit is due to Miss Keppie and to the class day committee headed by Jack Runyon for their indefatigable work in connection with the class day program.

There is no longer any doubt that dramatics as a class student activity has been justified at Pasadena High School.

ATHLETICS

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The varsity football squad, under Coach Griffith, completed its most successful season since 1916; having met with only one defeat, and triumphing over that great rival, Long Beach.

Willard Downs, all-southern player, was the captain of the team. The team was built around the six veteran lettermen, Downs, Novis, Orr, Dagley, Cockburn, and Martin. To these were added three lightweight lettermen, Bye, O'Connor, and Clarke. The eight other members, who made up the count were, Chapman, Coffeen, Sundstrom, Crow, Fouche, McClelland, Birlenbach, and Thorngren. Everyone of the above mentioned players played stellar football, and deserves great credit. Their work was supplemented by that of Warren Scoville, Kenneth Graham, Joe McClelland, and "Toots" Downs, who also deserve praise for their work. Those who substituted for the team were: Kirk, Wynn, DeGroot, Ward, Sloan, Stuart, Fell, Montgomery, Munson, Ladd, and Schmidt.

The managers for the team were Louis La Fonteese and "Bob" Kohler. Melvin Chase, and T. V. Truman aided Coach Griffith in the coaching of the team.

Pasadena High's varsity made an enviable record this year, and although they did not win the City League title, they succeeded in tying the champions, Franklin, and in beating Long Beach for the first time in six years, by a score of 13 to 0.

The managers for the heavyweights this year were Bob Kohler and Louis LaFonteese. Among those who aided in coaching were Melvin Chase of the Physical Education department and T. V. Truman of the agricultural department. Following is a brief survey of the games:

PASADENA VS. GLENDALE

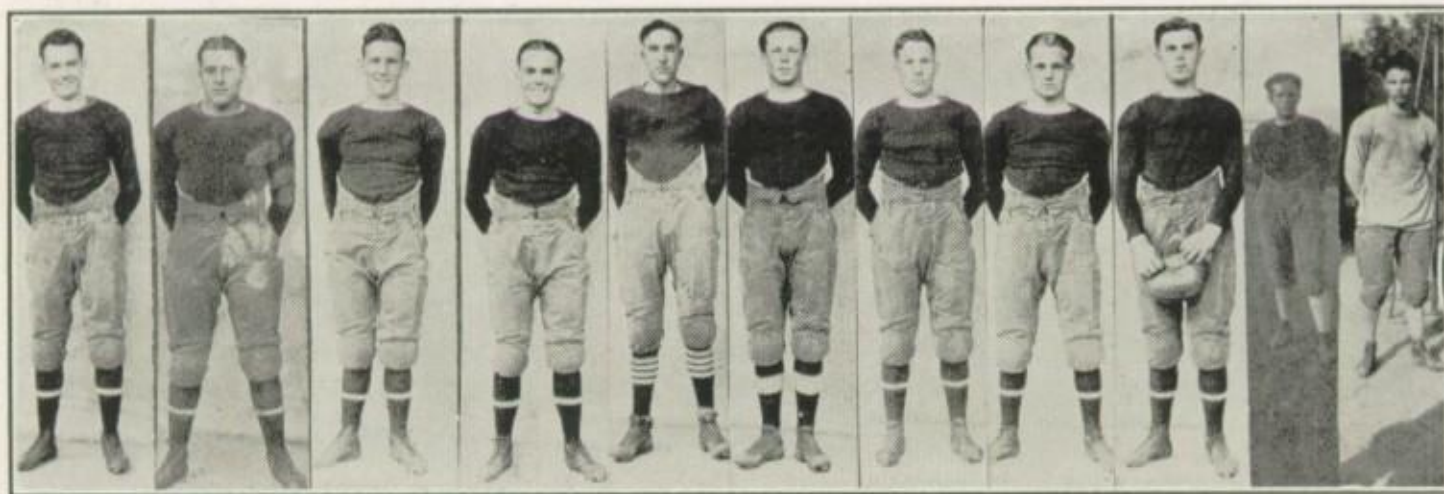

In a snappy practice scrimmage held early in the season the locals romped through the Glendale team at will for long gains. Although no score was kept the Bulldogs made five or six touchdowns against their neighbors.

PASADENA 13, LOS ANGELES 0

Coach Griffith's men met L. A. in a practice game soon after the Glendale game and took plenty of revenge for their defeat of last year by the Blue and White aggregation. The city team showed nothing unusual and had not Coach Griffith put some of his second string men in the game for a little practice, the score would probably have been different.

FIRST LEAGUE GAME—FRANKLIN 7; PASADENA 7

The first important game of the season was the biggest dope upset of the year. Franklin, playing her initial game in the City League, held Pasadena to a 7-7 tie. The Bulldogs kept the ball out of their own territory for almost the whole game with the exception of the last four minutes of play. Downs bucked the ball over the line in the third quarter and was injured a few minutes later, seriously crippling the local team. Franklin came back in the last minutes of the game and put over a touchdown by means of four very neat passes.

PASADENA 14, HOLLYWOOD 7

The second league game found Pasadena in no better condition than in the first. With Downs and Birlenbach out of the lineup, the squad looked rather weak. However, Dagley found time to make two touchdowns and Jimmy Cockburn converted them. "Babe" Orr's punting was the talk of the game as his kicks averaged about 52 yards. Hollywood had a weak offense and only a fair defense but towards the last of the game a long pass was completed behind the locals' goal posts which resulted in the seven points scored against Pasadena.

MANUAL ARTS 20, PASADENA 6

In a game played on Blue Monday the Pasadena Bulldogs were beaten by an inferior team from Manual Arts High School by the lopsided score of 20-6. The Pasadenans had no alibis to offer; they simply played in hard luck. The ball was in Manual territory three-fourths of the game, and Pasadena made more first downs, averaging 10 more yards on punts, and made more yards on straight football than did her opponents. From the above it would seem that Pasadena won the game. Five times the locals had the ball inside Manual's four yard line only to lose it on downs, fumble, or penalty.

However, it was this game that woke the Bulldogs and from then on they proved they had one of the best high school elevens in the state.

PASADENA VS. NEW MEXICO STATE COLLEGE

New Mexico State gridsters stopped off at Pasadena on their way home from a game with St. Mary's College. Coach Griffith invited them to scrimmage here.

In a half hour's time the locals had made 8 touchdowns.

PASADENA 21, SANTA ANA 0

The Bulldogs finally hit their stride and smothered Santa Ana by a fat score made entirely on good football. The Saints chalked up only two first downs against 20 made by the winners. "Cap" Downs tossed a long pass to Thorngren which resulted in the first touchdown. The second score was made when Downs broke away on an off-tackle buck and ran 25 yards to six more points. In the last quarter Pasadena worked the ball down to within a foot of the goal line on a fourth down and here Joe O'Connor showed good judgement when he got right behind "Fat" Martin and called "hike!" Joe just took the ball from "Fat's" hands and went between his legs for the third touchdown. "War" Scoville played three quarters in this game and proved to be Pasadena's most valuable man at breaking up plays.

PASADENA 13, LONG BEACH 0

For the first time in six years Pasadena beat Long Beach, who was completely outplayed, outclassed, and outfought. One touchdown was made by a line buck by Downs and the other with a 70 yard run by Scrib Birlenbach, cardinal end. Thorngren blocked a pass from Mattson, the beach quarterback, and knocked the ball into the waiting arms of Birlenbach, who boiled down the field and made the score 13-0. At the end of the play Captain Downs was carried off the field on the shoulders of Pasadenans amid the cheers from the 8,000 victory-mad Red and White rooters. It was certainly a fitting end to the great Bulldog captain's high school career and to several other members of the team.

LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL

The lightweight squad, captained by "Dick" Hassler, had a very successful season, finishing without a defeat, and proving to be the second wonder team turned out by Coach Frank Baker.

First among the backfield men comes "Dick" Hassler, halfback. Louis Vincenti, fullback; "Nor" Jaqua, quarter; and Joe Sanford, halfback, made up the rest of the first string backfield. Other backfield stars were: "Ed" Kellogg, John Nuhn, "Red" Hunt, "Slick" Stocks, and "Phil" Ramsey. Other backfield men worthy of mention were Jimmy Iliff, George Towe, and "Nap" Van Praag.

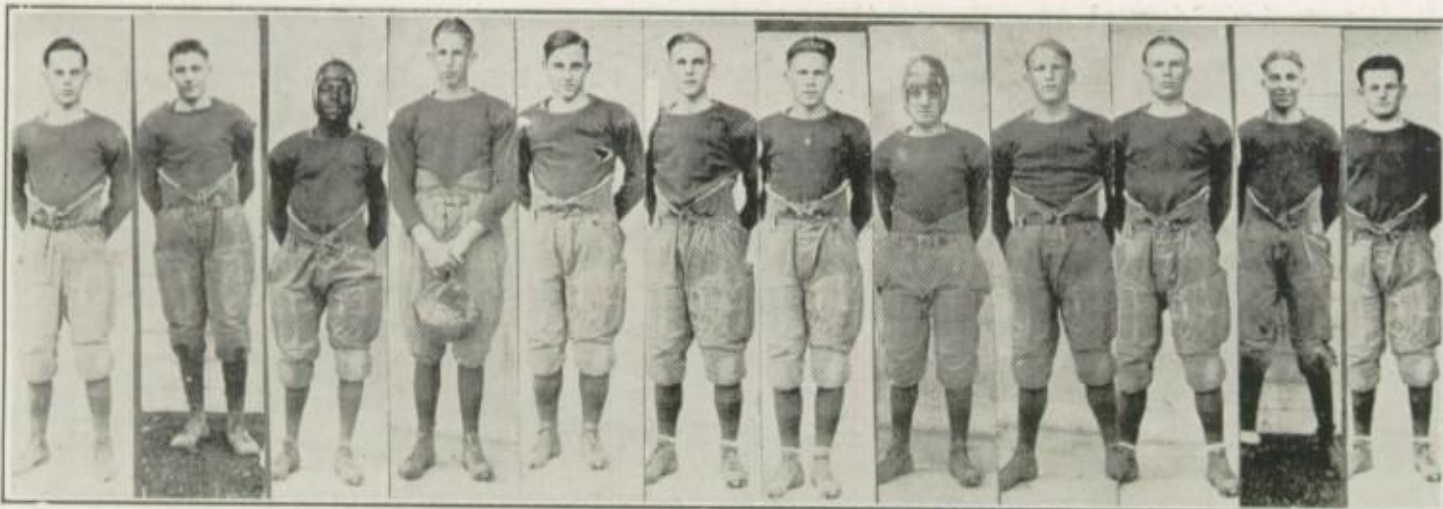

Paul Vincenti and "Artie" Syvertson were the first string ends, while Norton Coleman and Jack Olney had those positions on the second team.

Guards suggest "Hap" Kelley, all city colored ace, a veteran of three years. The two first string tackles were "Don" Novis, and "Nock" Millholland, who could always be depended upon as could "Nub" Borden, "Russ" Harriman, and "Ted" Hambrook. Axtel, Kasten, and Salisian finished out Coach Baker's wealth of linemen.

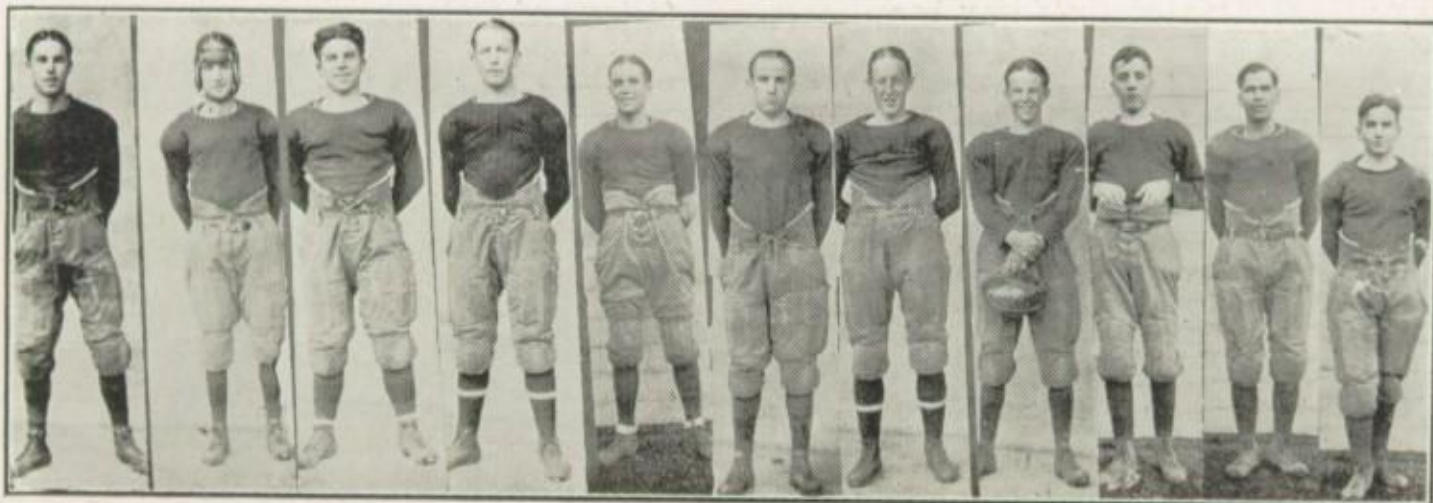

In "Tom" Mulvin the team had one of the steadiest centers in the South. "Chile" Mack also presided over the ball, alternating with Mulvin.

Charles Hollander, Jack Russell, George Davis, and Louis Most, had hard luck and were out for all season.

Twenty-four men made their letters. The team was managed by "Bud" Hoff, who deserves much credit for his work.

One of the major sports in girls' athletics is basketball. This year the girls' teams were so good that an exceptional varsity team was chosen, in fact it was able to beat Long Beach with a very high score. Under Miss Crim, the juniors were coached to championship with the record of having won three games and lost none. Again the seniors took second place by winning two and losing one. The sophomores and freshmen came in third and fourth respectively.

The members of the varsity were: "Bee" Palmer, Ruth McBride, Carol Fletcher, Nellie Doerschlag, Helen Schwartz, Burdine Branfield, Alice Ryden, "Dutch" Campbell, and Sigred Van Toll.

The senior team was composed of Carol Fletcher, Jean Tompkins, Martha MacDonald, Ruth Trenner, Elizabeth Turner, Charla Ilgner, Helen Harbrecht, Priscilla Pratt, Virginia Starrett, Peggy Killeen, and Mary Sheffer.

Those making the junior team were: Burnadine Branfield, "Bee" Palmer, Nellie Doerschlag, "Dutch" Campbell, Alice Ryden, Elvera Peterson, Ruth Ryden, Sigred Van Toll "Dotty" Taggert, Hazel Monnett, Annette Jacobus, and Lorena Whitley.

The girls on the sophomore team were: Marion Pierce, Ruth McBride, Helen Swartz, Maybelle Reichardt, Mildred Branson, Reva Bardell, Mildred Grissom, Ruth Dobbins, Winifred Rice, and Clara Bardell.

The freshmen players were: Catherine Reitz, Elizabeth Naquin, Elizabeth Nelson, Thelma Reavis, Beatrice Cross, Letha McCullough, Catherine Campbell, and Carolyn Merrill.

VARSITY BASKET-BALL

In the practice battles the varsity basket-ball team showed up so well that things looked bright for a championship season. But hard luck was encountered and they were defeated in their first three games.

However, the team was not discouraged, and only fought the harder. It soon got on its feet and began to hand out defeats right and left. Lincoln, Manual Arts, and Poly were all defeated, and the Bulldogs finished up the season in great style.

Birlenbach captained the team and was a star player. Eddie Collins captured honors as a star basket shooter. Willard Downs, Dwight Coburn, Bill Clarke, "Art" Graves, Bob Ward, and Jimmy Rae also deserve considerable credit for their work. "Red" Hunt and Louis Vincenti, former lightweight players, also did excellent work for the varsity.

Six men made their letters: Birlenbach, Downs, Collins, Coburn, Clarks, and Graves.

The team was trained by Coach Griffith. Louis Vincenti was manager, and Mr. Collins, Sr., also helped to make the team a success.

THE ANNUAL, 1923

TRACK

At the beginning of the season track prospects were very bright, and even after several members were dropped from the squad on account of ineligibility, the team continued to place high in the sectional meets. The Bulldog relay team twice broke the national interscholastic record for the four-man half mile relay. The Cardinal squad won all of their league meets and finished third in the city, sixth in the Southern California, and fourth in the state meet.

Along with 24 other high school athletes from California, the Pasadena four-man team, consisting of Pollack, Hurlic, Hassler, and Whiszar, journeyed East to Chicago and succeeded in placing tenth in the National Interscholastic meet. Pollack finished third in the hundred and the relay team, running 330 yards apiece, took third also, making a total of six points.

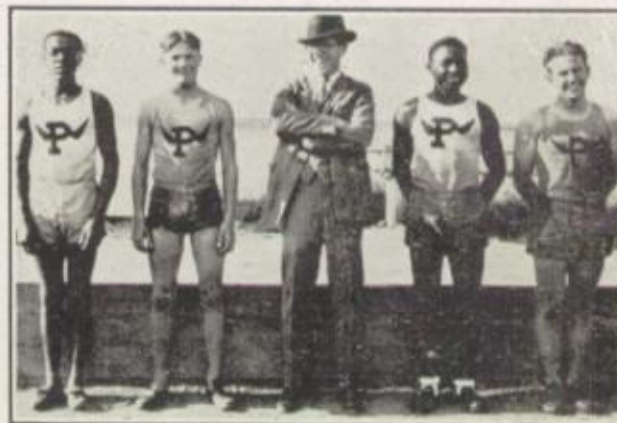

Bill Hurlic was high point man of the season with 63 points. His favorite events were the century, 220, and broad jump. Next in order of points came Captain Eddie Pollack with 55 points. Eddie was defeated only twice in the 100 yard dash. Once in the Southern California meet and once in the National meet. Other high point men were Curburn in the weights, Hassler and Collins in the hurdles and high jumps, Whiszar in the sprints, Dagley in the 440 discus and broad jump, and Jones in the mile. Other lettermen were Slack, Wallace, Conterno, Crow, Clarke, DeGroot, Evans, Poynter, and Bapst.

At the very beginning of the season the Bulldogs took first place in the high school division of the Annual A. A. U. Relay Carnival held at Oxy. This gave the Cardinals a prestige in the track world which they never lost.

Prospects for next year are very bright. Pollack, Whiszar, Hurlic, and O'Connor will probably form another record breaking relay quartett, while Curburn, Conterno, McIntyre, Crow, Taschner, Miller, Foote, Clarke, DeGroot, Collins, Kellogg, Stocks, Ramsey, Thorgren, McClelland, Kelley, McCall, and many others will be back in suits to help bring more honors to Pasadena High.

Before closing a word must be said about the fellows who failed to make letters, but who stayed in training all season. Miller, Taschner, McCall, McIntyre, Foote, Paull, and others are among those who were present.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP
RELAY TEAM

Stoddard, Whiszar, Pollack.

WATER POLO

Pasadena had a very successful season in water polo. Although she was defeated in the last game of the season, and had to be content with second place, she gained great honor by defeating Long Beach, 4 to 2.

The team was captained by Raymond Lohse. Lohse, Harold Novis, and "Rod" Ward proved to be three of the best players in the south. Alex Crawford, "Bob" Williams, Martin Scott, Narcis Khazoyan, and Hugh Smith also deserve much credit. These players earned their letters.

Kenneth Graham, "Ed" Williams, Kenneth Croshier, Reginald Nicherson, "Bill" Elliott, "Ed" McNulty, and Carl Garben also merit mention for their work.

The team was very ably coached by Coach McAuley. Khazoyan was manager. "Art" Stewart, who was out on account of illness, was greatly missed.

ATHLETICS

TENNIS

As to tennis at Pasadena High, outlooks for the future are subject to more interest than accomplishments of the past. Coach R. F. Baker's unearthing of three speedy freshmen, Jim Stocks, Harriman, and Don Tyler makes next year's prospects brighter than a new Ingersoll watch.

Besides those named, Captain Bob Kohler, Stanley Alden, and John Lukins were members of the squad. Tom Perry was manager.

SWIMMING

History repeats itself too often according to City League schools.—Pasadena Los Angeles, Hollywood, and Long Beach in particular. For the third successive year Venice won the Southern California swimming championship and likewise for the third straight season, Coach Leland C. McAuley's Bullfrogs took second.

Coach "Mac's" underlings started off the season by sinking the S. B. U. C. varsity by the awful count of something like 0 to 15. Next Venice, Los Angeles, and Hollywood were thumped in a similar manner, excepting by smaller scores. Pasadena had 21 markers to Venice's 27 in the Southern California contest.

Three men, Captain Rod Ward, Harold Novis, and Joe Sanford received letters with three stars, while Hugh Smith, Alex Crawford, Don Novis, and Emil Morhardt made emblems signifying two years' service. The other lettermen were Bob Williams, Bob Borchardt, Kenny Graham, Narcis Khazoyan, and Reg Nickerson. Don Novis was elected next season's captain.

L. C. McAuley of the Physical Education department, gave valuable service as coach, while Jack Russell handled the managing of the team in a creditable manner.

BASEBALL

The early loss of Sam Dagley, Scrib Birlenbach, and "Babe" Orr, because of ineligibility, proved to be so disastrous to Pasadena's baseball followers that a position near the cellar was the best they could take this season. Losing four games and winning one, the Bulldogs failed to make an especially good showing.

The one mix-up that Pasadena did win, however, turned out to be the biggest dope-spiller of the year. Jefferson was the victim of Coach Griffith's swatters by a 4 to 3 score in the fifth round of the league, and the result was the lowering of Jefferson from a 1000 percent standing to a four-cornered tie for first place and the pulling of P. H. S. out of the cellar.

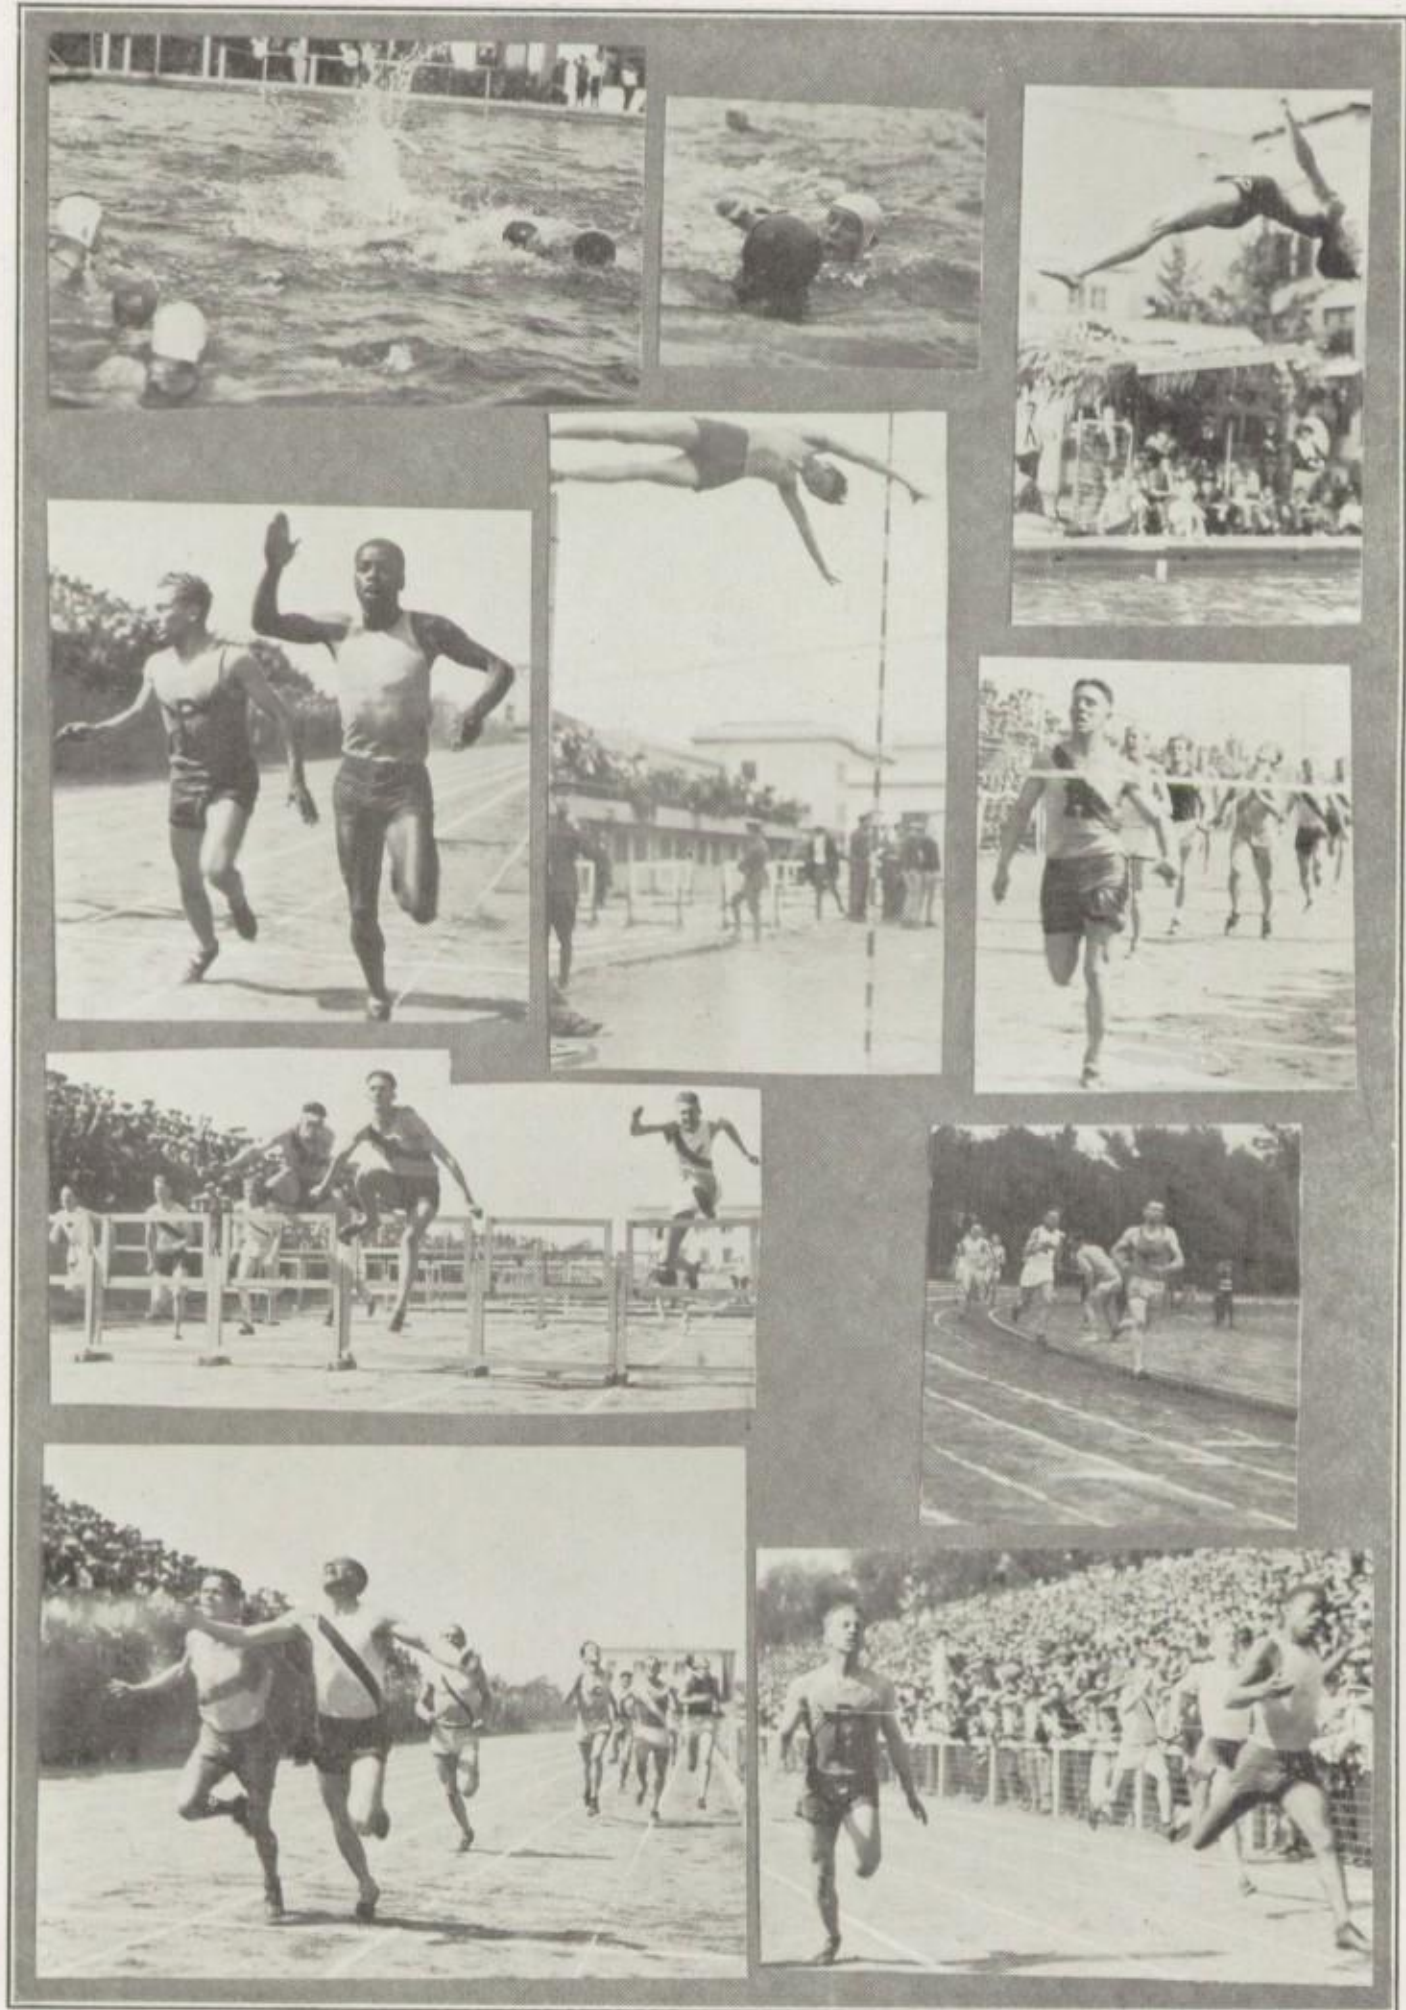

Players composing the squad were as follows: Captain Howie Bapst, Ralph Treadwell, Louie Vincenti, Schmidt, Artie Syvertson, Johnny Nuhn, Nor Jaqua, Rady, Bill Clark, Herm Sund-strom, Roy Smith, and Tad Schiffman. The managers were Clifford "Rosie" Winchell and Willie "Toots" Downs.

THE ANNUAL, 1923

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Never before in Pasadena High School has there been so much recognition given to girls' athletics. Because of this the girls have taken a keener interest in sports and have turned out in large numbers to support their classes. For this reason the girls' athletics of the past year have rated very high in comparison with those of other schools.

Hockey

The program began with hockey for which there was an unusually large turnout. The freshmen, under the direction of Miss Jensen, were able to train such good players that four of them were chosen for the varsity. The sophomores, coached by Miss Crim, practiced until they had the championship team.

The seniors put forth their best efforts under the direction of Miss Heffelfinger, who has been their friend ever since they were freshmen.

The first game of the season, played November 13, was the junior-sophomore game which resulted in a 1 to 1 tie.

The following day the sophomore-freshman game was played. The only goal was made at the end of the second quarter by the sophomores. Next the freshmen and the seniors clashed. The freshmen in yellow streamers looked up to the high and mighty seniors; the seniors with their old rose and grey numbers, looked down upon the lowly frosh. But the score surprised everyone with a 1 to 1 tie.

On November 20, the two upper class teams fought a battle in which neither team was able to score. On the following day the seniors came out upon the field to fight the sophomores in a game which turned out with a score of 2 to 2.

The last game to be played was the junior-freshmen game. For once the infants were able to triumph over their elders coming out with the largest score of the season, 3 to 1.

By Thanksgiving vacation the schedule had been completed and the sophomores were declared champions.

Soccer

As soon as the basket-ball season was over the girls began to train for soccer. With the same coaches for soccer as they had for hockey, the teams practiced to the best of their ability. Again the sophomores were champions, winning two games and tying one. The seniors followed in a close second winning two and losing one. Although the freshmen and juniors had teams to be proud of, they could not compare with the winning team.

Those given letters in the sport were: Charla Ilgner, Mildred Branson, Carol Fletcher, Reva Bardell, Clara Bardell, Helen Harbrecht, Beatrice Palmer, Maybelle Reichardt, Gwendolyn Corson, Betty Storms.

HUMOUR

Jack—You say he's a cleancut chap?
Eunice—He ought to be. He was born in Castile.

Kenny Krohn—(yelling at officer)—Hey there!
Cap. Van Ornum—Call me "Sir". My name is not "Hey".
K. K.—Then how did you know I was talking to you?

If "Chuck" had one foot on a nickle and the other on a dime, what would he remind you of?

I give up.

The Woolworth Company—nothing over fifteen cents.

Rosie—They say there's a fool in every family.

Kazzy—Ha! Ha! That can't be. I'm the only member of our family.

Looie—Take me to the pictures father, will you?

Father—Now haven't you just been an' had a haircut? You're always cravin' after amusement.

Doc—You've been having some trouble with angina pectoris, haven't you?

Treadwell—Yes, but that's not her name.
